Deadline Nears To Enter Wacky Triathlon

Individuals have until 7 p.m., Aug. 11, to enter The Cobblestone Wacky Triathlon - the fun triathlon for every one.

The final registration opportunity will be from 4 to 7 p.m. at Sumthins, 902 Date, TorC.

"Some of the things that make this wacky is that cash money is being paid out to the top three and bottom three in each of the divisions," said Susan Brandt of The Cobblestone (event guide). "In addition, the middle person now gets a prize plus prizes being awarded in each of the events."

First in each category is $100, second $50 and third $25. In the duo and family category, both persons receive the same amount of money making for a total of over $1800 in cash prizes to be given away.

The three categories are individual, duo and family. The events are a five-wacky-task obstacle course, an anything that floats race and a five-lap backwards marathon.

The obstacle course and floats race will take place in the morning hours at Elephant Butte State Parks in the Dirt Dam recreation area. The tasks on the obstacle are: taking water from the lake and filling a 1 ounce salsa cup, then using the same spoon filling a brown bag with sand (2" so it can be used for the luminaria walk at the state park in December), blowing a piece of Hubba Bubba Bubblegum until you can blow a bubble, blowing up a balloon until it's three inches in diameter and last but not least, bust a water balloon when hitting the target.

The any thing that floats race that follows will have participants going out 50 feet and back on any kind of craft they can to provide as long as it doesn't have a motor.

The fun will move to downtown TorC starting at 5 with the five lap backwards marathon. A new add on is that each participant will receive a ticket for a free beverage at Doggies in the Desert.

The award ceremony will be at 7 p.m. at the Healing Waters Plaza where the lap marathon takes place.

Participants are encouraged to visit the downtown businesses who will be open during Second Saturday Art Hop, also

Ambercare Office of 'We Honor Veterans' Receives Level IV

Ambercare is proud to recognize the Truth or Consequences Office for completing Level IV of the We Honor Veterans (WHV) partnership program. Laura McDonald, the WHV Coordinator and Community Liaison in TorC, provided the impetus for that location to attain Level IV status. She achieved this objective with the assistance of veteran volunteer, Harold Clark.

Participating hospice organizations can "earn their stars" and matching logo by completing activities for each of the four levels of commitment. Acquisition of Level IV status designates Ambercare as a hospice organization providing competent and highly-skilled care to veterans. The specific goals for WHV Level IV partners are to develop and strengthen relationships with the VA medical centers, veteran organizations, and other community hospices.

The Truth or Consequences Ambercare location is proud to have Harold Clark as its veteran volunteer. For any persons interested in participating in this valuable program, please contact Laura McDonald at 740-1735.
